EPI Liner Letter Magic

Today is Valentines Day! Have you hugged your sweetie today? You can also send him or her an E-Valentine. Just go to Hallmark.com and select an ecard.

Did you know that the Liner Letter has many imbedded links? Just move your mouse pointer over the paragraph above. When the pointer changes to w, left click and you will see the Hallmark page opened in a new browser window. Move your pointer over the Liner Letter masthead and click and you will be linked to all the previous issues of the Liner Letter. Click on the EPI logo and you will open our award winning website.

When the pointer is in the shape of a hand, left click and hold, the pointer turns to a fist, and you can quickly drag the page up or down. Give it a try here. Our previous Liner Letters also have many imbedded links related to the various topics.

And speaking of electronic magic in our newsletter, EPI can now also email your invoices, statements, and other order processing information. We can email you confirmation of your order shipment, pro numbers, and freight carrier delivery information. You can track your liner order shipments by accessing our Freight Tracking web page. Just move you pointer over this paragraph, and with one click you will be there!

EPI can also provide all project submittal information electronically. We have provided information in this way to many projects, including the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation. This is a simple way to expedite the submittal of all information required for approval prior to fabrication and installation of your liner. For instance, the EPI Quality Control Manual can be instantly at your disposal. Just move your pointer over this paragraph, click, and have a look at the magnitude of this document. Feel free to print it out if you need to.

Please give us your feed back. Click on this paragraph to automatically send us an email and let us know what you think of the Liner Letter or to subscribe. Or call toll free 800-655-4637.
