Oil Field Liners

EPI was founded in 1980 with one customer: the oil well drilling industry. Our mission was simple. Provide the pvc liners the drilling companies needed for reserve pits WHEN they needed them. That sometimes meant around the clock service. That also meant maintaining an inventory of standard sizes at all times. At EPI we learned the meaning of real customer service in those early years.

Today we still serve the oil exploration and production industries with specialized products and top notch service.

We maintain an inventory of finished liners for our customers so they can respond to the drilling industry's ever changing needs.

EPI now has oilfield specific polyethylene products available to you. These can be prefabricated to virtually any size and shipped quickly to your site.

EPI is also providing large prefabricated non-woven textile products for use on drilling locations. These panels are rolled and quickly installed on site to provide protection for geomembranes and for worker safety. For more information call Marty or Brad at 800-OK-LINER.
